Re: Sales Development Representative (Role 0264), Remote Growth Partners

Dear Hiring Team,

Your client is building its first outbound motion and needs someone to start it. I've done that before. At 3BL Studios I was the first sales hire and set up the sales department from scratch: the target customer profile, lead lists, call scripts, email sequences and the CRM pipeline.

The phone is where I do my best work. At MMCY Tech I make 150–250+ outbound dials and handle 80–150+ inbound calls a day with U.S. contacts on U.S. business hours, using HubSpot, Salesforce, Five9 and PhoneBurner. I also write the proposals and business cases that follow a first meeting. I know firsthand how quotes, pricing approvals and contracts move a deal forward, and how much spreadsheets and Google Docs slow that down. That's the problem your client's platform solves, and I can speak to it from experience.

My software development background helps me learn technical products quickly and explain them plainly to CROs, RevOps and Finance leaders.

I've put together a short outbound playbook for this role, with buyer personas, a cold call script, objection handling and a 10-day sequence: samuel-erkuye-sdr.vercel.app

I'd welcome 15 minutes to talk. Run a role play with me, or let me cold call you live.

Best regards,
Samuel Mekonnen Erkuye
